Course Description

Advanced Three-Dimensional Design provides an in-depth concentration and application of sculpture using a variety of materials to create a personal style and greater form of self-expression. The prerequisite for Advanced Three-Dimensional Design is the successful completion of Three-Dimensional Design and Fine Art Prep. During this course, students will have an in-depth study of ceramics, both hand building and use of the potter's wheel. In addition to ceramics, we will study casting, modeling, relief, additive, subtractive, environmental, assemblage and kinetic forms of sculpture. Exploring creative problem solving and developing personal imagery are approached through mastery of sculpture media, techniques and assignments. Aesthetics, art criticism and art history as reflected in a multicultural world will be interspersed with the curriculum when relevant. It is our belief that art is an integral part of our daily existence, and this class will not only develop student's art skills, appreciation and creativity but their problem-solving abilities as well.

Goals for Student Learning

The Art Program at Bel Air High School believes that all students are capable of learning, and that a Visual Arts education is important in the development and application of aesthetic judgments, critical thinking skills, perceptual awareness, and cultural understandings in creative expression and production. Our Art curriculum encourages the use of organizational and conceptual skills through a series of carefully structured and sequenced courses. Because art relates strongly to other academic areas, the Visual Arts program contributes to the entire educational experience.
